About the ICCSS

The International Centre for Chemical Safety and Security (ICCSS), is a non-profit organization. Through a range of initiatives and activities including trainings, exercises, capacity building and best practices exchanges, ICCSS helps governments, international organisations, industries, and communities, to manage and mitigate chemical, biological and cyber threats and enhance civil protection. Due to its independence, flexibility, global network of diplomatic, negotiating and technical expertise and contacts, the ICCSS is well positioned to facilitate alternative cooperation and solutions through the ICCSS Global Team and Dialogue and Cooperation Hub.
